

SCOTT I. FEGLEY, P.C.

◆ Attorneys at Law ◆

In today's legal environment, size doesn't matter - THE ATTORNEY DOES. The Internet provides small firms the same access to legal documents, case law and legislation across the country that once only large firms could keep in-house. Research and drafting required hours of tedious work in law libraries. It can now be accomplished in a fraction of the time from a desktop computer.

The attorney who best utilizes today's technology in combination with his legal experience and training is going to provide the best service to the client. It's that simple.

Now in his twentieth year of private practice, Scott Fegley uses technology to litigate effectively against some of the largest firms in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. His firm, the Law Offices of Scott I. Fegley, P.C. is celebrating its fifth anniversary providing legal services to clients in business and employment law. Mr. Fegley is pleased to have among his clients Chamber members such as Angelmark Associates, Inc., Interfaith Housing Development Corp., and 1-800-GOT-JUNK?.

Mr. Fegley and his staff have helped form many new companies and start them off on a sound legal footing with the right documents and the right advice. The firm has helped existing companies reduce risk through policies review and employee training on topics such as sexual harassment and diversity. When problems arise, Mr. Fegley's skill as a trial attorney enables him to continue representing the client rather than referring the client to someone else. His in-depth knowledge of his client and the courtroom gives him an edge over the adversary who may be meeting his or her client for the first time.

If you are looking for an expert marksman rather than overkill, retain the Law Offices of Scott I. Fegley, P.C. for your legal matters. You won't miss.
